✳ Newtron requisition

1. Requisition

Newtron requisition allows you to collect requisitions from the entire company directly in the eSourcing solution. A set of different templates are available to the requisitioner for sharing requirements so that the procurement requirements can be described in a uniform company-wide structure.

2. Requisition creation

The templates are based on proven RFX features and offer the same ease and wealth of features as tender forms. You can begin working with the module immediately without a lot of training.

After creating the requisitions, they can be collected in a pool. Using customizable filters such as product-group allocation you can keep an overview when there are many requisition messages.

It is also possible, without changing media, to transfer the requisitions to the tender module directly after creation or bundling. You will also enjoy all the benefits of an electronic tender such as wizard-supported step-by-step creation, access to a supplier base of approx. 80,000 suppliers, 1-click bid comparison and evaluation and online awarding.

3. Processing status

The other processing steps (creating tender, receipt of bids, award) are shown in the original requisition as status changes. That means the requisitioner always has an overview of the current status of their requisition.

The benefits to you:

- Structured and transparent display of requisitions of all kinds
- Collect procurement tenders in a company-wide uniform structure
- Collect messages in a central pool
- Transfer requisitions to tender module without changing media
- Proven forms with great ease and wealth of features
